Biography

I'm a creative designer from Cheshire England. I'm interested in hand-drawn illustrations, digital art, photography, typography, and watercolours. Ever since I was young I've loved drawing; I enjoy focusing on a breadth of subjects, from animals and characters to supercars, scenery and still objects.

In 2018 I took part in Inktober; an art challenge where artists are tasked with creating one drawing every day in October. Using the Inktober prompts as my inspiration I decided to dedicate a week or even months to the most interesting prompts. I find it relaxing and rewarding to see the end result; the thing that motivates me the most is seeing how other people react to my illustrations. It's been particularly fulfilling to see the positive response and feedback I've gotten on my prints on my Etsy store, which I've been running since 2019.

In the future I'd like to experiment and try new art styles; maybe something minimalist that would help me to create more pieces quicker. I currently plan to create illustrations from my favourite TV shows, The Mandalorian and Breaking Bad.
